ABOUT THE COMPETITION

The Young Package competition has been giving an opportunity for hundreds of designers over the past twenty years around the world to present their original ideas. Through the competition has gone a number of young creators who have later become respected designers: historically the first winner was Jan Čtvrtník, who years later worked for NASA, IKEA and Elektrolux. In the following years they were also other successful participants such as Ladislav Škoda, chief designer of Tescoma or Jaroslav Juřica, author of award-winning chair 002 for the company TON. Let's take another cup of packaging and join the Modul Young Package!
